Brendan Gray Joins AirPatrol's Advisory Board

Naval Aviator Brings Extensive Experience Forging International Partnerships

Columbia, MD —December 7, 2009— AirPatrol Corporation (www.airpatrolcorp.com), a leading mobile and wireless threat management solutions company, today announced that Brendan Gray has joined its esteemed Advisory Board. Gray served with distinction for thirty years as a Naval Aviator, his last five years as the Deputy Commander for Navy Region Europe. Captain Gray was responsible for the day-to-day operations, security, and force protection, of the nine Navy bases across five countries in Europe, including the safe and efficient operation of seven ports and six airfields.

“We are thrilled that Brendan Gray is joining our board of advisors as he brings a wealth of experience to our board room from a distinguished naval and professional career,” said Ozzie Diaz, CEO, AirPatrol Corporation. “As AirPatrol continues to expand, Brendan’s knowledge of how the decision making process works within government agencies will help guide the company in the months ahead.”

Gray joins a distinguished list of current AirPatrol advisors with more than 100 years of corporate and government experience, in areas of technology, security, defense, intelligence, sustainable development and homeland security. Advisors include Prem Abraham, Howard Kalt, Paul Kurtz, Paul Pelosi, Mike Sheehan and Scott von Stein.

Currently, Gray is vice president of operations for Interactive Data Corporation (IDC), a global provider of financial market data, analytics and related services to financial institutions, active traders, and individual investors. He is responsible for the company’s business continuity and disaster recovery operations across the globe and operational strategy formulation. As Chief of Staff, for the Chief Operating Officer of IDC, Gray is responsible for organization alignment, prioritization and cross-functional implementation of all Operations/IT programs and projects.

A graduate of the US Naval Academy, Gray deployed the first port security barriers at Navy bases in Europe and he established the first European National Incident Management System (NIMS) Compliant Emergency Operations Center. Gray has extensive experience in forging international partnerships. He organized and led a multi-national, multi-discipline team from five countries and four major defense contractors that established requirements for and initial design features of the P-8A (new Navy aircraft). He brought international partners onboard resulting in a $10 billion funded program. Captain Gray directed the successful recapitalization of the Navy's European infrastructure, encompassing $1.5 billion in construction for four bases in Italy, Greece, and Spain. Gray graduated in 1977 from the US Naval Academy.
